Children enjoy free books from Dolly Parton's reading project

BROOKFIELD Park Primary in Skelmersdale has signed up to a scheme which means all nursery children at the school receive a free book every month and up until they are five years old.

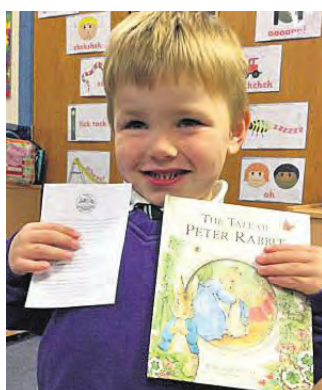

The primary on School Lane is now an affiliate to the Dolly Parton Imagination Library, and new starters to the nursery sessions will also be signed up to join in with the programme.

The children were delighted to receive their first book, which was The Tale of Peter Rabbit.

Chair of governors David Brown said: "At Brookfield Park, we place a lot of emphasis on developing a love of reading."

"We are proud to be an official affiliate of the Imagination Library."

A special message from Dolly Parton was read to the children from an insert in the book. They

One parent said: "This was such a lovely idea, reading is so important and my daughter was thrilled to get her book!"

FREE PARKING TRIAL SCHEME FOR TOWN CENTRE ON THE WAY

Drivers will be able to stay for up to two hours without charge
at selected car parks

Report by Henry James

A FREE parking scheme for Ormskirk town centre is to be trialled later this year.

The trial scheme was proposed by Councillor Adrian Owens of the Our West Lancashire group and has been approved.

It will see up to two hours of free parking allowed in selected town centre car parks after 1pm on Mondays and Tuesdays.

The new tariff will be introduced at Wheatshaf Walks, Park Pool, Park Road, The Stiles and Hutton Way car parks for a one-year trial period to monitor the success of the scheme.

Residents and visitors will still require a free ticket from the car park machines to ensure they can benefit from the scheme without incurring any enforcement fees.

The trial will start once the bus station car park is returned to service, which is expected to be in late December 2022.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, leader of the council and cabinet member for regeneration, said: "Supporting our businesses to adapt and prosper is a key aim of the council."

"Introducing a free parking trial for Ormskirk town centre is just one way the council can support the economic benefits to our communities."

The council has said the free parking offer will help encourage visitors to come into Ormskirk and that it is continuing to make it easier for people to cycle and walk into the town.

This includes turning the footpath between Ormskirk bus and railway stations into a shared use footpath and cycleway and works planned as part of the Ormskirk Eastern Gateway Project.

Dealer sold drugs around world from Bickerstaffe home

Encrochat criminal who called himself 'Battle-hawk' is jailed for 12 years

Report by Henry James

A MAN who was storing and selling kilos of Class A drugs internationally from his own home in Bickerstaffe has been jailed.

Michael Doyle, 44, of Heyescroft, was jailed for 12 years at Liverpool Crown Court on Monday, June 13.

He is the latest offender to be jailed as part of Merseyside Police's response to Operation Venetic, which is an international operation targeting criminals who used a mobile encryption service, commonly referred to as Encrochat, in an attempt to evade detection when dealing drugs.

An extensive investigation found that Doyle had 55 different Encrochat handle names stored in his contacts list.

From the examination of the Encrochat data, Doyle was identified by officers as the user of EncroChat handle "Battle-hawk."

During 2020 messages showed he had conspired to supply significant quantities of class A and B drugs to his many contacts and even attempted to move three million Euros from the Netherlands to Ecuador.

In his messages, Doyle talked about "plane jobs" and "fish jobs" in what officers said was reference to the movement of drugs by air and sea.

Doyle was arrested on Wednesday, April 6 at his home in Bickerstaffe on suspicion of several drug offences and transferring criminal property after officers searched his house and found a block of cocaine of 74% purity weighing 200 grams.

He pleaded guilty to Conspiracy to supply Class A, cocaine and heroin, conspiracy to supply Class B amphetamine and possession with intent to supply Class A cocaine following a trial at Liverpool Crown Court.

Detective Sergeant Jay Boardman said: "Doyle's attempts to store and supply huge amounts of Class A drugs revealed his clear intention to sell drugs on a wide commercial scale that could have brought suffering to families and residents in our communities."

"We know the devastation that drugs cause and Merseyside Police remains relentless in our pursuit of these criminals and ending their drugs trade."

Thousands turn out to enjoy first village fair since before pandemic

MORE than 2,000 villagers and visitors enjoyed the first Newburgh Fair to be held since before the pandemic on Saturday, June 18.

A thumping performance by the Batala Mersey Band kicked off the procession with children's highly decorated floats portraying this year's theme of the Magic of Books.

The Rose Queen Macey Birch rode on her own float attended by a bumper number of 21 Rose Attendants and Rose Buds.

"It was so rewarding to be back", said Fiona Casey, chair of the Newburgh Fair Association. "We had lots of attractions to enjoy ranging from Punch and Judy to Morris Dancing as well as community participation activities like line dancing, wacky games and of course the famous waggy-tail dog show."

Speed limit reduction is hailed by MP

LANCASHIRE County Council will be changing the speed limit on Snape Green, Scarisbrick from 40 to 30mph.

This comes after West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper joined forces with concerned residents to pressure the council to make the road safer.

The MP and locals argued that the 40mph was unsuitable for the residential road, and that without a change in speed limit, someone was likely to get seriously hurt.

The MP said: "This is a brilliant result for the residents of Snape Green. Anyone that has driven on the road would surely agree that 40mph was far too fast for such a narrow residential lane."

"There are families with young children living there that were justifiably worried that the speed of traffic could result in a terrible accident."

"I am grateful to Lancashire County Council for acting so quickly on these concerns and making my constituents safer."

Developers should have to rebuild former hall says MP

"The building must be rebuilt, and those responsible need to be prosecuted for the criminal damage they caused"

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancashire Borough Council is being called on by MP Rosie Cooper to push for a criminal conviction and potentially a prison sentence for the developers who demolished the former Skelmersdale Hall building.

Residents were shocked to see workmen flatten the building on Saturday, May 7.

It came two months after the Grade II listed building had been severely damaged in a fire, with arsonists believed to be behind the blaze.

The historic building on Ashurst Road, dates back to 1712, and was most recently the Old Toby Pub.

Immediately following the demolition, the West Lancashire MP wrote to Historic England, who have now confirmed that they had been informed of the 'seemingly unlawful' demolition only after it had happened and have offered their advice to the council on enforcement.

This advice included clarification that a prison sentence would not be excluded.

Just weeks after the fire plans to build 60 apartments for extra-care living accommodation at the location by Cheshire-based applicant SEP Construction Services Ltd were withdrawn.

At the time, the council called the demolition "unauthorised" and stated legal advice was being obtained.

SEP Construction Services Ltd has applied for retrospective Listed Building Consent to demolish the Rosie Cooper MP, inset, wants the developers who demolished the former hall prosecuted.

"Grade II listed Old Toby Inn to chamber level following the fire to make the building safe."

Cllr Gareth Dowling has asked for the application to be called in and wants it discussed at the borough council's Planning Committee.

Included in the retrospective application is a report from consulting engineers Betts Associates, who visited the site on March 7 and recommended that the inside of the listed building be secured to prevent access as it was "very dangerous."

Ms Cooper is now urging the borough council to push for enforcement action, and that the developers be charged and if convicted, receive the strongest punishments possible for not following the legal process.

Ms Cooper said: "The developers have ignored the laws in place to protect historically important buildings like the Toby.

"They have taken from us a building that Historic England say had 'nationally important architectural and historic value'. They now must face the consequences of these actions."

"We cannot allow this to go unpunished, the council need to take every step to right this wrong."

"The building must be rebuilt, and those responsible need to be prosecuted for the criminal damage they caused."

"The courts must seriously consider whether a prison sentence is necessary."

Grimster Planning Ltd, who have been acting as the agents for SEP Construction Services Ltd, were contacted for comment.

Merseyrail services forced to close because of strike action by Network Rail staff

Report by Henry James

MERSEYRAIL and Network Rail have announced that rail services will not run on the Merseyrail network on Thursday, June 23 and Saturday, June 25, due to some Network Rail staff taking industrial action.

The RMT union recently announced that its members at Network Rail will be taking three days of industrial action (with the first day – yesterday Tuesday, June 21) as part of a dispute with Network Rail and 13 train operating companies nationally.

While Merseyrail staff are not taking part in the industrial action, it will involve Network Rail staff who operate the signalling systems and provide crucial maintenance which allow services to run safely. The operator is therefore unable to provide any train services on days where industrial action is taking place.

Due to the industrial action lasting 24 hours, there will be knock-on effects the following days. Services on Wednesday June 22 and Friday, June 24 will begin later as the staff taking part in the action will not begin working until 7am. There will be some limited rail replacement buses provided on these two mornings before the normal train service begins after 7am.

Full details of the bus services are available on Merseyrail's website.

Passengers are advised to make alternative travel arrangements during the strike action days as no trains or rail replacement buses will operate on the Merseyrail network. It is also recommended that passengers planning to travel prior to 8am on Wednesday 22 and Friday, June 24 check prior to travel and allow extra time for their journey.

Phil James, North West route director at Network Rail, said: "With a fraction of the usual workforce available, including signallers who safely move trains around the network, unfortunately it means no Merseyrail services can run at all on strike days on 21, 23 and June 25."

Andy Heath, managing director at Merseyrail said: "It is very disappointing that we will be unable to provide a rail service to the people of the Liverpool City Region on the 21, 23 and June 25, because of three days of industrial action by some Network Rail staff. We share the frustration of our passengers regarding the disruption and inconvenience this will undoubtedly cause."

Northern hit by RMT dispute

NORTHERN has published timetables for the skeleton service it will operate on the dates this week when industrial action by the RMT union is set to take place.

Timetables for the six days affected by the strikes can be found at: northernrail-way.co.uk/travel/strikes

While there will be an uplift in services on days that fall in-between strikes dates, the knock-on effects and fleet displacement implications have forced Northern to advise its customers not to travel this week.

Tricia Williams, chief operating officer at Northern, said: "We've done everything we can to offer people across the North of England a skeleton service but our advice remains not to travel."

"The timetable we have put in place has been agreed with Network Rail, who have had to consider the requirements of other train operators and freight services on the network."

"We apologise in advance for the disruption and inconvenience that the RMT's industrial action will cause. We continue to be keen to speak to the RMT to find a resolution and avoid any future strikes."

Ex-mayor to be chairman of Skelmersdale United

'To be asked to take on the role is a fantastic honour'

Report by Henry James

FORMER mayor of West Lancashire, Gordon Johnson, is to take over as chairman of Skelmersdale United, describing it as a 'fantastic honour.'

Following on from last season's promotion from the North West Counties League to the Northern Premier League, the club announced this week that Paul Griffiths was stepping down from the role.

Mr Griffiths successfully steered the club through a number of troublesome years following the club's departure from their 'Stormy Corner' ground, with a groundshare with Prescot Cables and ultimately a return home to Skelmersdale to their current home at JMO Sports Park and last season's successful promotion campaign.

He said he had decided to step down due to family reasons but will remain on the club's board of directors.

Gordon Johnson will officially take over the role on June 30.

A club spokesperson said: "Gordon brings a wealth of experience to the club having been an active match official in the semi professional game and also on the Football League.

"For the last five years he has been vice chairman and club welfare officer for Ashton Town AFC, together with also having worked at Liverpool County FA most recently as safeguarding officer."

Gordon said: "I was delighted to be recently given the opportunity to join United's board of directors.

"The club is one that I have had a connection with for many years now and have keenly followed their progress.

"To also be asked to take on the role of chairman is a fantastic honour and one that I couldn't refuse.

"Exciting times lie ahead for the club on its return to the Northern Premier League and together with my fellow board members we are hoping to consolidate on last season's success and hopefully build on this moving forwards.

"The club already has a strong and committed board of directors one of whom will continue to be my predecessor Paul Griffiths.

"It would be remiss of me not to thank Paul for all of his hard work and time dedicated to the club over many years.

"Luckily for us all, and myself in particular, Paul will remain on the board and be on hand to offer his help, advice and support during the coming season.

"We are under no illusions that it will be a tough one returning to the Northern Premier League but a challenge that the club relishes and are looking forward to taking on."

Umbrella Project shows school's commitment to support all of its children

STAFF, pupils, and their families have celebrated the launch of The Umbrella Project, at Ormskirk West End Primary School, organised in partnership with the ADHD Foundation.

By exhibiting umbrellas '5 by 5', the aim is to visually represent neurodiversity – an umbrella term that covers ASD, ADHD, dyslexia, dyspraxia, and Tourette's Syndrome – and the fact one in five of us is neurodiverse.

The Umbrella Project encourages a better understanding of these conditions – their strengths and challenges – and celebrates the ways in which each mind is unique.

Deputy head, Sarah Currie, said: "Our participation in The Umbrella Project is indicative of our school's commitment to meeting the individual needs of all our pupils and supporting every child to achieve their very best.

"We are now making further improvements to our Sensory Room, Sensory Garden, and Forest School, while also developing a Nurture Room that will be home to our Inclusion Team.

"Our aim is that all our children – no matter their need – have appropriate access to spaces that support their learning and their mental health and wellbeing."

The Mayor of West Lancs Cllr Marilyn Westley said: "The Umbrella Project is a fantastic scheme, with such a high profile nationally, and is an excellent way to celebrate inclusivity and neurodiversity."

The school's participation in the project has only been made possible through donations from sponsors, many of whom are parents of children at the school or have experience of living with a neurodiversity.

Antique clock made in Aughton is found in American museum

Engravings indicate it was made by clockmakers John or James Barton in 1699

Report by Henry James

AN antique clock thought to have been made in Aughton at the end of the seventeenth century has been found at a museum in America.

The tall case clock, which is believed to date back to 1699, is in the Colonial Williamsburg Museum in Virginia, USA.

It was spotted by Karen and Jim Kendig, two American friends of Aughton author John Winter.

John said: "Karen and Jim live in Lancaster, Pennsylvania and are big fans of The Beatles and of Liverpool, both the city and the football club, and they have twice flown over to stay with us."

"They emailed us to say they went to the Colonial Museum in Williamsburg and had seen the clock."

The museum has identified the clock as having been made by either John or James Barton, who both worked as clockmakers in Aughton.

John added: "According to Brian Loomes who is an expert on antique clocks the Bartons were members of the Aughton School of Clockmakers who worked in the area in the latter part of the seventeenth century. They made square-dial lantern clocks and only about five of their clocks are known to exist.

"The floral design on the dial is typical of the work of Henry Webster of Ormskirk who worked as a clockmaker from 1685 until his death in 1697.

"He is thought to have been the founder of the Aughton School, so it is possible that the Bartons of Aughton worked under him until his death. They may then have continued to make clocks for the local market using a similar floral design.

"The date 1699 is carved into the fret above the dial and the initials 'JB' are engraved on the base. They confirm the probable identity of the maker of this clock which somehow found its way to America."

John Barton is thought to have made only lantern clocks while James Barton is known to have made a couple of longcase clocks.

It is not clear how the clock ended up in Williamsburg.

John added: "The catalogue number (1954- 995, A) suggests the clock was purchased by the museum in the 1950s but it seems likely that it was, by then, already in America."

"It would have been fairly easy to ship a small lantern clock across the Atlantic, so perhaps the wooden case was added to what was originally a lantern clock, thus converting it into a much more imposing longcase clock, after it had been transported to America."

Moor Hall named best in England

AUGHTON'S Moor Hall restaurant has been picking up more awards.

It has been named the best restaurant in England at the National Restaurant Awards 2022 and has been ranked the second best in the UK.

It was beaten to the top spot in the UK, which it held last year, by Ynyshir in Powys, Wales.

Chef Patron at Moor Hall, Mark Birchall, (pictured) said: "I'm over the moon that Moor Hall was awarded Best Restaurant in England 2022 after being no. 1 in the National Restaurant Awards for two consecutive years.

"It's a list filled with incredible restaurants, chefs and the people who run them, so it's humbling to be included at all. This isn't about me though, this award goes to the entire team at Moor Hall; it's such a group effort, and we're so fortunate to have the best team imaginable.

"Bringing this award back home to Lancashire and flying the flag for the North West and its amazing produce means the world to me."

Moor Hall holds two Michelin Stars, a Michelin Green Star, and five AA Rosettes.

Skem firm shoe-in for MP award!

HOTTER Shoes in Skelmersdale has been nominated for a Parliamentary award.

West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper submitted her nomination for Unbound Group plc (Hotter's parent company) to the 'Responsible Business Champions Scheme 2022'.

The All-Party Parliamentary Corporate Responsibility Group presents an annual award for responsible business practice to recognise companies that go beyond mere compliance with legal and contractual obligations to support their local communities.

The award is distinctive because companies can only be nominated by their MP, for impact in their constituency, and the award is judged by Parliamentarians.

Ms Cooper's nomination states that the group is built on the 'solid foundation' of Hotter shoes, a comfort footwear brand with a database of 4.6million customers.

With the Group's headquarters based in Skelmersdale, it operates head office functions, a state-of-the-art manufacturing facility and customer contact centre.

The group has 500 employees across its site and a 24-store retail portfolio. 68% of the workforce live in West Lancashire.

West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper said: "I am delighted to have nominated Unbound, who most people will know as Hotter Shoes, for this Parliamentary Award in recognition of their dedication to training and supporting their staff, who largely are made up of my West Lancashire constituents at their base in Skelmersdale.

"Their work in and supporting our community through funding public defibrillators, investing in and donating to Marie Curie and 'Dig In' charity and their commitment to creating a sustainable site and supporting the local economy is the standard all businesses should be aiming for."

Ian Watson, chief executive officer at Unbound, added: "I'm proud of the team we have built here in the North West and we're honoured to be nominated for Constituency Responsible Business Champion. I'd like to thank Rosie for her support."

Danielle Eccleston's daughters with the duck warning signs at the 'blind bend' on the road

Blind bend danger - for children and ducks

Report by Henry James

CALLS are being for traffic calming measures to be installed near a 'blind spot' on a road in Ormskirk as it is dangerous for children and ducks.

Danielle Eccleston fears there could soon be a serious accident on the bend at the top of Marian's Drive leading onto Heskin Lane.

She is calling on Lancashire County Council to install speed bumps to slow down traffic.

She said: "There is the potential of a serious road traffic accident occurring on the blind spot on the bend. Cars speed going down Heskin Lane and it is difficult to pull out of Marian's Drive."

"Many children walk and ride along Heskin Lane and I feel this request could save lives."

Danielle is also calling for duck warning signs to be replaced after they were taken down by vandals.

She said: "The brook that runs through Ormskirk attracts a lot of wildlife. Ducks visit daily and feed at many houses in our street - but the ducks and their ducklings nest across an extremely busy road.

"Ducklings are unable to fly, therefore they walk across the busy road numerous times per day."

"Last year, I wrote to the council to request that duck signage be installed. These signs were erected but someone cut them all down."

A spokesman for Lancashire County Council said: "We carried out a speed assessment on Heskin Lane in 2021 and found average speeds were within the 30mph limit, with the overall risk being assessed as low. Heskin Lane has a good safety record."

"There are two signs in place on the eastern approach to Marian's Drive warning of a junction on the inside of a bend ahead, along with 'slow' markings on the road from both directions."

County Councillor Charlie Edwards, cabinet member for highways said: "Thank you to Danielle for campaigning for improved driving along this road."

"We hope people take notice of this and continue to drive appropriately in a way that is considerate towards all users of the road."

Our election system needs modernising

I write to support calls for steps to be taken to modernise our democracy.

We have used the 'First Past the Post' voting system since the days when parliament was dominated by land-owning Tories and Whigs and voting was restricted to property-owning men.

FPTP was fine when you only had just two parties but today when we have three or four standing, the winner can easily be elected on little more than a third of the vote.

The alternative to FPTP is of course proportional representation where the number of seats gained is proportional to the number of votes received. In short, irrespective of party, PR much better reflects what the voters vote for!

In the recent local election in Sefton, Labour won 17 seats, Conservatives 3, Lib Dems 2, Greens none and various 'others' none. This means Labour won 49% of the vote and gained 77% of the seats.

Under a proportional system, the seats won would be closer to Labour 11, Conservatives 4, Lib Dems 3, Greens 1 (seats are rounded to the nearest whole number). This would reflect much more closely how we actually voted!

It is encouraging to see many Labour constituency parties have recognised the greater fairness of PR.

Sadly, fewer Conservatives support a fair voting system because, nationally, FPTP gives them a significant advantage due to the more even spread of their vote - as opposed to the Labour vote which tends to stack up as large majorities in the cities.

At the last general election, these factors resulted in the Conservatives winning more than 56% of the MPs on less than 44% of the popular vote.

PR is already used to elect the parliaments and assemblies of Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland. So why not Westminster?

In Europe, the only other nation still using single stage, winner takes all, First Past the Post is the highly authoritarian state of Belarus

It really is time our voting system was modernised to reflect how we actually vote as a nation.

Grass verges should be left uncut for the sake of wildlife

Why on earth does the council persist in mowing vast areas of grass, including wild flowers, when leaving the areas to grow is much more nature friendly and far less expensive?

In Skelmersdale there is so much potential for providing a habitat for all manner of insects, birds and mammals with the added bonus of saving some of our Council Tax by using less fuel and labour costs.

Who is responsible for the decisions that lay waste to nature's best efforts to provide for its creatures whilst spending our money needlessly?

I appreciate that near roads the traffic needs

The 'overgrown' grass verges provide a habitat for wildlife.

clear views so some mowing is vital, but who is making the decisions to mow indiscriminately?

Mike Brown,
Skelmersdale

For all the new town rhetoric Skelmersdale will still lack decent stores and amenities

I am not too inspired by the rhetoric we're being fed about our new town centre.

Apparently we're getting a leisure centre on top floor of Concourse (which closes at night), a wellbeing centre (whatever that is), a new paved area and a mystery retailer.

What haven't we got that almost every other town has?

An Italian restaurant, a Chinese restaurant, a Wetherspoons, a Nandos, an Ikea, a Tesco, a Sainsbury's, a B&Q, a Wickes, a variety of fine dining restaurants, a choice of gastro pubs within walking distances, pavement cafes, pavements, litter bins, cycle tracks, a hospital, a railway, a station, a park with a duck pond, a clean, usable and maintained swimming pool et al.

I'm aware that things need to be paid for but when the town which apparently contributes most in council tax to a county council receives the least, then questions need to be asked and answered.

David Symons,
Skelmersdale

Cat owners should keep their pets under control

Re: Your report on cats having the same rights as dogs.

If cat owners are willing to look after their pets the way dog owners are then if they are out of their property they should be on a lead, and have third party liability insurance.

I am a dog owner and by law I have to have all the above.

The amount of cats that roam the streets of Skelmersdale is unbelievable.

We have about five cats continually roaming around our area.

I feel sorry for any one who losses a much loved pet but if they kept them under control, there much loved pet would still be with them.

Skelmersdale

New shops are not good for wheelchair users

After months of waiting in eager anticipation for the opening of the first shop, imagine my dismay as a person with limited mobility how difficult it is to get to be able to make use of the new shops.

Yes, a beautiful job has been done of the new pathway to the college, but no thought has been put into making it easy to get to and from the bus station when you have difficulty walking long distances.

Imagine someone who has to use a wheelchair.

Not everyone has use of a car.

Looks like I won't be using the new shops any time soon.

Captain's innings sets up victory for Ormskirk over S&B

ORMSKIRK beat local rivals Southport & Birkdale by 22 runs on Saturday.

Captain Gary Knight scored a century (111) which was the highlight of Ormskirk's innings of 251-4 declared off 51.4 overs.

There were also half centuries by opener George Politis (58) and Harvey Rankin (51*).

S&B's reply got off to a good start with an opening stand of 69 before JJ Fielding was out caught for 41.

Next man in Jonathan Whitehead kept the score moving, scoring 32 before he was also out caught with the score on 120.

Wickets then fell at regular intervals but with opener Jack Stanley at the crease S&B may have been confident of victory.

He put on a 75 run fifth wicket stand with Tom Baybutt.

But then Baybutt was bowled for 39, and Stanley was run out for 88 to leave the score on 217-6.

Zahir Shehzad then polished off the tail to pick up

5-99 as S&B were dismissed for 229 in 55.1 overs.

Formby had to settle for a draw against Birkenhead Park after amassing a total of 264-3 declared after 54.4 overs with centuries from opener and captain Callum Turner (111) and Sam Oldham (135).

Steve Lazars then claimed four wickets and Sam Ellis three as Formby sought victory.

But Birkenhead Park skipper Thomas Foster hit a defiant 67 not out as his side held on for 209-8 after 48 overs.

Elsewhere in the Liverpool Competition Premier Division Rainhill beat New Brighton by 21 runs.

Leigh drew with Newton-le-Willows, Wallasey drew with Northern, and Wigan drew with Orrell Red Triangle.

In Division One Ainsdale beat Highfield by five wickets with Muhammad Irfan taking six wickets before scoring an unbeaten half century.

Fleetwood Hesketh (269-5) drew with Sefton Park (281-5 declared).

Linnets to face Holker Old Boys in cup draw

PRE-SEASON may not have started yet, but Burscough already know their opposition for the first round of the Macron Cup.

The draw took place following the North West Counties League's Annual General Meeting, held recently in Blackpool, when the Linnets were drawn away at Holker Old Boys.

The match is scheduled to kick off on Saturday, October 15.

Last year's Macron Cup was won by Charnock Richard after they defeated Cammell Laird in the final held at Chorley FC's stadium.

Cold turkey for electric car buyers

with

www.lifeoncars.co.uk

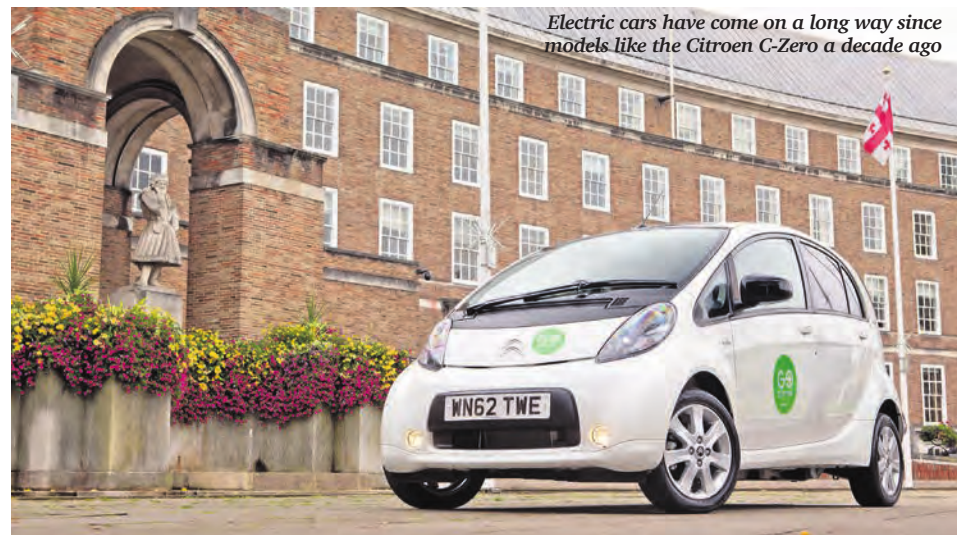

THE metaphor you can see shivering in the corner, desperately asking for its next hit, is the electric car grants junkie. As of this week, it's officially gone cold turkey. No more getting high on eco-minded discounts for you, mate.

The Department for Transport's decision to wind up the money off you get for zero emissions vehicles over the past week has met with a mixed reaction. Volkswagen and a couple of other carmakers, who have a vested interest because they have entry-level electric cars to flog us, were none too keen, while motoring groups including the AA said it sent out all the wrong signals to a motoring public lunging towards net zero, whether they liked it or not. But interestingly the British Vehicle

Renting and Leasing Association could see where Whitehall was coming from, reckoning that the state's fiscal muscle should now be focused on the charging infrastructure rather than the cars themselves.

It's not like no one saw it coming. When the grant was launched back in 2011 you could earn a hefty £5000 discount on your brand-new electric car – and you needed it, because back then the first-gen Nissan LEAF and Citroën C-Zero were about your lot. The pioneers of modern electric cars, like the first mobile phones, the original desktop computers or the very first video recorders, were massively expensive and not all that great. You needed every incentive you could get – and with electric cars, who cared if it turned drivers into discount junkies.

But since then the offer's been gradually wound down as the nurse realised you were waking up in the night drenched in sweat, anxiously reaching for the nearest copy of What Car and loading up the online configurator for the Renault Zoe. Gradually the dosage has been dropped, being knocked down from a £2,500 to £1,500 discount back in

Electric cars have come on a long way since models like the Citroën C-Zero a decade ago

December. Only cars costing under £32,000 – so no more knockdown Teslas – were eligible. And then, last Wednesday, the prescription was finally cancelled. Unless you were lucky enough to get your order in just before the announcement was made, that's it. No more.

Personally, I think it's the right shout. So far this year 92,512 of you have bought an all-electric car, compared to an already substantial 54,051 over the same period last year, which is an increase of just over 71 per cent. Nowadays the all-electric version of Vauxhall's Corsa only costs £5-6k more than its internal combustion equivalent, and most new electric cars are offering anywhere between 200 and 350 miles on a charge. Carmakers are increasingly preaching to the converted.

But my betting is that there'll be more to come. By 2030, the sale of purely petrol and diesel cars will be outlawed and my guess is that the revenue from Vehicle Excise Duty and Fuel Duty will still have to come from somewhere. It might not be tomorrow, next week or even next year, but at some point the government will have to stick charges somewhere else on zero emissions motoring.

Perhaps the real junkie in this tale is Her Majesty's Treasury...
